

ABSTRACT

A mobile device (3) is adapted to be inserted inside a ventilation or air-conditioning duct (2) and moved inside in order to disinfect the duct. This device comprises an axle (31) on which ultraviolet ray lamps (34) are assembled, end discs (32 and 33) provided with wheels (35 and 36) on the edge, and can further comprise traction and retention cables (38 and 39).